

La Cata Ilustrados

The crowd opens with Aunt Polly crossing the fence in search of her nephew, Tom Sawyer. She finds him in the closet, discovers that his hands are covered with jam, and prepares to give him a whipping. Tom runs out dramatically, "Look behind you!" and when Aunt Polly turns, Tom escapes over the fence. After Tom is gone, Aunt Polly reflects carefully on Tom's mischief and how she lets him get away with his tricks.

Tom crosses fence at supper time. During supper, Aunt Polly discovers that Tom's hands are covered with jam. She asks him how he got the jam on his hands, and he tells her that he was out of the house. Aunt Polly is still angry from the last time Tom was out of the house, but she lets him go. Tom's half brother, Sid, tells Aunt Polly that Tom is a liar and that he should be punished.

Tom goes out of the house to play with his friends along the streets of St. Petersburg. He and the other boys spend their time playing pranks and doing mischief. They are all very mischievous and enjoy playing tricks on each other.

When he returns home in the evening, Tom finds Aunt Polly waiting for him. She notices his dirty clothes and wonders how he got them that way. She asks him what he was doing, and he tells her that he was out of the house. She is angry with him and tells him that he must work the next day, a Saturday, as punishment.

On Saturday morning, Aunt Polly sends Tom out to whitewash the fence. Tom passes by, and Tom tries to get him to do some of the whitewashing in return for a "white alley," a kind of excuse. Tom almost agrees, but Aunt Polly appears and chases him off, leaving Tom alone with his labor.

Este es un libro ilustrado para mayores. Hace unos días fue el cumpleaños de papá comecuentos y como no podía ser de otra forma, las comecuentos le regalamos un libro que, como buen vinoaholic, sabíamos que le iba a gustar: La cata de Roald Dahl, ilustrado por Iban Barrenetxea y editado por uno de esos sellos que solo editan literatura de la buena: Nórdica Libros.
